What a 'galling' prospect!!

During the earlier part of this year, Colin experienced some rather excruciating abdominal pains; after ultra sound scans, it was discovered he had rather a large gall stone. So, laparoscopic surgery was scheduled to fit in with our busy schedule as many flights had already been booked and Monday the 21st September was THE day for his galling experience! What the surgeon discovered through his camera lens was a very diseased gall bladder – too messy to tell! BUT GOD led the surgery and it was removed without the invasive surgery which almost took place. So we give God thanks for the health and protection of Colin during his wait for surgery☺

'Teaching For Bosnia'

Three weeks after this 'galling' event, Colin is currently in Bosnia on which is turning out to be a marathon teaching extravaganza! Due to the unexpected illness of his teaching companion, Colin is there on his own. It is a 2 city affair – Sarajevo 'book ending' with Mostar in between. The first three days produced 11 teaching sessions in the church weekend Bible School and twice on Sunday. It is now Thursday and he has covered a men's meeting and a large group meeting with the topic – 'Finance'. He will continue Friday through Sunday.

Health & fitness

How is he? - just great! He is well and in good spirits and importantly, healthy..thank you to those who are praying for him – please continue until he arrives home on Sunday 25th October.

Blessings
